

HOW TO GIVE MONEY TO TONY (FROM ANYWHERE IN CANADA)

V.1 – JAN 31, 2007

I) BACKGROUND

There are two bank accounts at Scotiabank to enable you to give money in for the purpose(s) that make the most sense to you:

- A) Tony's Cash Account: Tony will use money deposited in this account for his own purposes, as he sees fit.
- B) Account for Canadian Registered Charities Focussed on Homelessness: Tony promises that Canadian Registered Charities that are focussed on homelessness will receive all the money deposited into this account. We'll keep you up-to-date with Tony's choices and other details via this blog.

II) THE FINE PRINT

1. While Tony promises to abide by the plain-meaning of the descriptions above, you should know that both accounts are in Tony's name and that Tony is their sole signatory. This means that Tony could, if he wished, use the money deposited the Canadian Registered Charity account for any purpose that he desired.
2. You will not get any tax deduction for your gift, as Tony is not a registered charity.
3. Tony promises to pay proper income taxes and any other taxes due on the money deposited in these bank accounts.
4. We will not identify any donors on the blog nor in any other medium. We will not distribute any information about you to anyone, ever.
5. Please realize that even Tony's "regulars" don't give him money every time they see him, and sometimes they don't give him anything for long periods. We want to say clearly that no one should feel any obligation to give Tony anything, whether for Tony himself or for his choice of charities. That said, Tony will appreciate anything you do give.

III) BANKING DETAILS
